BIO

Emma Nash is a Partner at iFLG. Emma has Rights of Audience in the High Court. She often takes the role of advocate and represents her own clients in court.

Emma provides clients with advice and support in relation to a comprehensive range of family law issues including child relocation, maintenance, financial provision on divorce, and financial claims by cohabiting couples.

She also specialises in private children matters with a particular emphasis on cross border issues such as international relocation, surrogacy, jurisdiction and enforcement.

Emma is a member of Resolution, a national organisation of family lawyers who are committed to the constructive resolution of family disputes in a non-confrontational way.

Emma writes a popular family law blog which encourages debate on important family law issues. She has also had various articles published in the national and legal media and regularly comments in the press including national television and radio appearances.

Emma speaks German and basic Italian.

Emma is noted as a 'key lawyer' in the Legal 500 UK Guide 2020
